4. General requirements

4.1.6.4 Danavis Marine does not have a separate legal entity (other legal identity with the same name) engaged in the design, manufacture, supply, installation, purchase, ownership, use or maintenance of the items inspected, such as:

- Single ownership, hence, no chance that the other owners (who may be engaged in other activity) have influence on the outcome of an inspection;
- Single ownership appointees of the organizations, where functions are dedicated to inspection services only,
- Directly reporting to the same higher level of management (Single owner),
- No other contractual commitments with the client, all contracts are related to inspection services only, hence no chances of influence on the outcome of an inspection.

4.2 Confidentiality

4.2.1 Danavis Marine is responsible, through legally enforceable commitments (contractual agreement made with the client), for the management of all information obtained or created during the performance of inspection activities. Danavis Marine informs the client, in advance, of the information it intends to place in the public domain. Except for information that the client makes publicly available, or when agreed between the inspection body and the client (e.g. for the purpose of responding to complaints), all other information is considered proprietary information and regarded as confidential.

4.2.2 When Danavis Marine is required by law or authorized by contractual commitments to release confidential information, the client or individual concerned shall, unless prohibited by law, be notified of the information provided.

4.2.3 Information about the client obtained from sources other than the client (e.g. complainant, regulators) is treated as confidential.
